Between the B. & O. Rond and the Board of Public Works—The Courts to be Ap-pealed to.

The B. & O. railroad company yesterday made a move that indicates that it proposes to disregard the rules and regulations of the Board of Public Works, especially rule 16, Board of Public Works, especially rule 10, which is in effect, that "no telegraph, telephone, electric light or railroad company, or any person employed by them, shall dig into any of the streets, sileys or public places of the city without having made application, in writing, to the Board of Public Works so to do, and received a permit from the Board for the same, and no such permit shall be granted until there he deposited with the Ulerk of the Board such sum as said Board shall deem sufficient for the purpose of defraying the necessary expense of restoring the place dug into to it former condition." For a disregard of this rule pentalties and fines are imposed. This rule is part of the city ordinance recently adopted and its efficiency is already visible in all parts of the city, no holes or piles of rubbish have been left where gas pipes or sewer pipes have been repaired, for persons digging are obliged to repair or answer in the police court.

pipes have been repaired, for persons digging are obliged to repair or answer in the police court.

To return to the B. & O. About five weeks ago, a clerk of the company informed Clerk ago, a clerk of the company was about to lay a new track on Seventeenth street, and intil the cty noticed a gang of k. & O. employes digging into Sixteenth street. He asked Foreman Bently if he had a permit and received a negative answer. He then told Bently he must procure one or he and his men would be greated. No permit was taken she may would be greated. No permit was taken when would be greated. No permit was taken bout, and Colonel Campbell, a member of the Board, was put in clearge of the case. With the police at his back, he marched to Sixteenth street, but the men seeing him coming scattered, and the case was dropped, as no more work was done.

The next move, was a letter from Manager Devices to the Board as follows: "Under the ordinance herefore passed by the City in City Helious and the case was dropped, as no more work was to the Board as follows: "Under the ordinance herefore passed by the City in City Helious and the case was dropped, as no more work was not company to the board as follows: "Under the ordinance herefore passed by the City in City Helious and the case was dropped, as no more work with reasonable speed and to restore as possible to the streets, to complete the work with reasonable speed and to restore the street will also be given to-day, for in free work with reasonable speed and to restore the streets so soon as the work is finighed to a special purse will also be given to-day, for our State Fair, the Janes of the Association.

"Well, they claim, I understand, that under the ordinance granting them the right to pass along the streets that they can dig up whenever they please, as you see by Devries' letter. But I think the scheme is this; new roads are coming here, and the Hempfield has got to be extended. They won't tunnel through the hill, but will go through the town via. Sixteenth, Seventeenth and McCulloch streets. They want to put down steel rails, and what's more, they want to change the grade of their track at Sixteenth and Chapline streets and at Seventeenth and McCulloch, so that the heavy grades will be avoided, but the grades of the streets—where will they be? By taking out a permit you see, the company obligates itself not to change the grade, and as it now is it would be hard work for a heavy train to get up."

THE STEUBENVILLE RACES. of Finished Yesterday as Expected

The Expected,
The attendance at the rares at the Steubenville Hill Top Driving Park yesterday, was larger than on any previous day of the meeting, and the sport was worthy of the attendance. One of the races was won by a well known Wheeling horse, and Wheeling contributed no little proportion of the crowd of spectators.

tributed no little proportion of the crowd of spectators.

The unfinished pacing race of the day before was won by Sailor Boy in 2:3515.

For the 2:50 class, purse 3:30, Charles Abbott, of Rochester, New York, entered ch. m. Home-Maid; Ol Eisman, of Wheeling; b. g. Edwin A.; James Walker, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., b. g. Col. Bannister. Rosa Lind, Roxie, Tourist, Mattie H., Blue Goose, W. H. D., Charlie and Citadel were entered, but drawn.

for the Mandards-The Jennings Clui

Between six and seven hundred people i the Standards and Robert Jennings club, of Pittsburgh, at the State Fair Grounds yester much larger than on any previous occasion, a fact that ought to increase this class of spectators in future games. The play was quite interesting up to the sixth inning, when the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the Jennings club. In the first part of the sixth, however, gained mainly by the wild throwing of the Pittsburgh visitors.

Some terrific batting was done, in which the home club excelled. In the seventh inning the visitors put in a new pitcher, who was pounded with as much freedom as the one who had been knocked out of his position. Altogether it was an interesting game, marred perhaps by some very stupid errors on both sides.

The Starters

on both sides.

The Standards were sent to the bat on the toss for choice, and Sullivan delighted the hearts of the spectators by opening the ball with a terrific hit to left field for two bases. Barkley hit to short and was thrown out first. Laird then pounded the leather for two bases, bringing Sullivan home. Reese and Moffat ended the inning by retiring on short hits.

The Jennings were blanked, the strikers retiring in one, two three order. Trainer died at first. Smith lifted the ball to centre field, and as Heinlein was there to receive it, he was retired. Slevens struck the air three times and put the side out.

Miller opened the second inning for the home club with a two baser to left field, C. Heinlein following him died at first while A. Heinlein dropped the bat after three unsuccessful attempts to hit the sphere. Rhees punched the ball over second base, on which Miller scored. Sullivan retired the side on a short hit to second base. The Jennings were sent to the field again in short order, Love thying out to Sullivan, and Moffat capturing the files of Jackson and McSwiggle. The Standards went to the bat but failed to score. The visitors got two runs in the third inning they were not entitled to. McKliheny popped up a fly to short, and Moffat and Miller both breaking for it, they collided and the ball went to the ground. Snyder hit to centre. Toole filed out to Moffat, Trainer got to first on a hit to left. The bases were now fuil, and breathless interest centered in Smith, who was at the bat. He made a fout tip, and Snyder walking back to second instead of running he was promptly declared out, though not without a warm protest from the Pittburgh boys. After a brief indulgence in an argument, very uninteresting to the spectators, the play proceeded. Smith got on to the ball for two bases, McKillheny and Trainer scored. Sievens died at first on a weak hit to right, and Love followed him, perishing at the same place on a hit to third.

The Standards came in for work. Moffat popped up a fly to the pitcher

The Standards came in for work. Moffat

The Standards came in for work. Moffat popped up a fly to the pitcher, which was mutfled. Miller retired on three strikes. C. Heinlein drove the ball to left centre and Miller scored. A. Heinlein's hot one to short was fumbled, but he was forced out at second on Rhees' hit to pitcher, and on a wild throw both Rhees and C. Heinlein tallied. Sullivan hit safe to right, and Barkeley brought hin in on a long hit to left. Barkeley stole third, and came home on Laird's hit to left. The visitors were promptly blanked.

The Standards added three more runs to their score in the seventh inning by hard batting, and partly by the wild throwing of the Smoky Gity boys. The run getting stopped in the e gluth inning, Sullivan and Barkley touching the home plate, and swelling the score to a total of 12 runs.

The Jennings were treaged to a whitewash, very neatly done. Smith got first on a hit past third. Stevens drove a hot liner to Moffat which he held, and throwing to first cut Smith's life short by a pretty double play that was loudly applauded. Love went out on a foul.

The linith inning was interesting from the

on a foul.

The ninth inning was interesting from the fact that Sullivan put all three men out, capturing flies popped up by Jackson and snyder, and stopping a grounder batted by McSwiggle.

Following is the summary:

At Pittsburgh yesterday the Allegheny defeated the Athletics by a score of 4 to 3, and the Buffalos defeated the Providence at Buffalo, 6 to 2.

the Bullalos defeated the Providence at Bull-alo, 6 to 2.

The spectators in the grand stand have a new wrinkle. While sides are changing positions they get up and take a "stretch." It is a great religt.

The Jennings' boys hast night claimed that they were only "drawing the Standards on" yesterday, and that to-day they would treat the public to a regular picnic. Per-bass.

The boys of the Police Gazettes say that their proposition is this; it is somewhat modified from the one before: Their pitcher, Spec Kearns, is willing to wager money that he can outbat Laird of the Standards in a certain number of balls to be pitched by any pitcher; the same pitcher to pitch for both. Atleast, that is the way we now understand the boys.

Thursday evening, and wasburied at Walnut rove yesterday. There are rumors in the air that Rev. E. R. ones, who has invented a threshing machine, a endeavoring to form a joint stock company to manufacture them.

A meeting of the sons of soldiers will be held at Grand Army hall this evening to take measures for forming a camp of the organiza-tion known as "Sons of Veterans." The services at the Camp-meeting of the Second M. E. Church at Walnut Grove will be unusually attractive to-day and to-mor-row, and large crowds will be in attendance. Marshal Drugan and Officer Nagle, of Bel-laire, were up here yesterday hunting up some of the participants in a free fight which opcurred, down there early yesterday morn-ing.

The literary supertainment spoken of some time since is in a fair, state of progress and will be given on the evening of the field. The programme will consist of orations, essays, declamations, and vocal and instrumental music. The proceeds will go towards erect-ing some more new street lamps. A good time is promised, as a good programme is on the boards.

time bords, while the Exans boys were threshing at George Hobba's, the cylinder exploded, making things lively for the time being. No one was hur, and operations will be suspended for a few days.

The extra examination of teachers took place at Fairview yesterday, and there were only nine applicants, and we hear that some of them failed. Another examination will be necessary, to get teachers to fill all the schools in the county.

The Circuit Court at Fairview disposed of the Huff will case that has been occupying its attention since Monday. The case was decided yesterday afternoon. The jury retired, and after a half hour's deliberation, decided that the will should stand in full force, and not be broken.

MOUNDSVILLE.

The Kloman mill having completed the order for grate bar iron, shut down Thursday evening last. It is said operations will be resumed Monday next.

The Grave creek bridge is now completed with the exception of painting and filling in the approaches. It will be open to travel about Wednesday next.

The managers of the West Virginia Exposition and Fort Heury Centennial celebration had better send a missionary down here to awaken our people up a little.

The casing of the Lindsey oil well has been completed and boring resumed. The well is about 400 feet deep. Mr. Painter is fully satisfied with the present indications of finding oil.

A car load of coke was backed on to the Kloman switch yesterday, and as the siding is considerably down hill, the car "took the bit in its mouth" and refused to obey the brakes, and dininged itself off the end of the track, where it now lies. George Webster, who was hurt by being struck by a freight engine at Cryley's switch, as detailed in this correspondence some days ago, is now completely delirious from the eftects of injuries sustained by his head coming in violent contact with a cross tie. Serious doubts of his recovery are now entertained.

TICKETS will be placed on sale this morning at Witson & Baumer's music store for the engagement at the Opera House next Tuesday evening of "The Jolly Bachelors" of which play the Springheld Republican says: The ausic is original and pleasing, and there are two or three members, a male chorus, a lullaby, and a a soprano and contraito duet, which called forth hearty applause. The opera has a good deal of witty dialogue, and it is played in a rollicking way, by capital performers, who threw into it an abundance of fun, which caused immediate laughter. Miss Winston has no equal on our stage in her special line; she has improved in voice since she was here last, and if possible her acting also is better. She acts the man as we have seen no other woman do it, with entire acting areo is better. She acts the man as we have seen no other woman do it, with entire modesty, but with an apparent ignorance of the fact that the male dress is not her right full garb, and moreover with a grace which many a man might ency her.
